The mayor is of dc is planning to shut down dc completely. Everything. Bring food for yourself and others who are not prepared. That include first aid and what ever you think would be useful for yourself and others.

This isn't a vacation, this is war

And carry a sanitation system with you, can be as simple as a jar to pee in. But then you gotta dispose of the jar, so think it through.

2 million people from out of town gonna hit the streets with little in the way of accommodations, shops closed, bars and eateries closed, hotels closed or full, no friends among police or government. No facilities/infrastructure as a civilized city might be expected to offer.

Yeah take foods and toilets and everything you need because DC won't offer up anything but assault, denial of civil Rights, hostility and arrest if you screw up.

Going in you must realize that you WILL be violated, cops will disarm you and arrest you if you try to carry. So you will be helpless as the double damned corrupt government supports BLM terrorists and antifas who attack you. Public transport will magically not be working when you need it, you'll not have mobility or any sense of terrain, the Enemy lives there and will have every advantage.

I guess you can fling the pee on them tho, so maybe there's that as far as sanitation needs go.

Everyone be safe, which is gonna be a hard job. It isn't 'war' yet, you need to be Peaceful in a situation which is contrived to force violences upon you.

Pray for Humanity.

▼ I'm flying form Los Angeles, so I can't bring very much. The thing is, with the scamdemic I'll bet hotel occupancy had been lower than expected. My hottl is still booked and my flight hasn't been cancelled yet. This is a golden opportunity for the D.C. denizens to make $$$$$. But I know that 96% of them voted for the shit hole people.

▼ We also saw unprecedented democrat signage placement upon vacant lots and corners, mostly on state and city owned land.

▼ I imagine even more! I don't believe in the blue state procedure either. Many CT residents were given sharpies to vote and didn't know better.
